The winding road passes Ladies View, aptly named after Queen Victoria's ladies-in-waiting who were so impressed with the view of the lakes, then Muckross estate, before finishing back in Killarney.

Day 11 Along the South Coast to Wexford

Wave goodbye to Killarney and travel via Macroom to Cork which, like Venice, has grown from a series of islands in a medieval marsh into a cosmopolitan city. Blarney is close by, offering excellent retain therapy at the Blarney Woollen mills, also a great place for lunch, or for the more adventurous a climb up the castle steps to kiss the Blarney Stone. The historic harbour at Cobh, final port of call for RMS Titanic and with a delightful heritage centre is another option for a lovely lunch stop. Continue to Midleton, home of the Old Midleton Distillery part of the vast Irish Distillers group famous for Jameson, Bushmills, Tullamore Dew and the local brew "Paddys", or Waterford, reputedly Ireland's oldest city and home to Waterford Crystal and the Museum of Treasures. Head on to Wexford and a final overnight stay at the Talbot Hotel in town.

Day 12 Farewell to Ireland

Catch the morning ferry from Rosslare to Fishguard, and complete the journey home.
